Maryn Miller brings decades of senior legal leadership experience, having served as head of legal for numerous global retail and lifestyle brands, including Lucky Brand Jeans, BCBG Max Azria, Quiksilver, Billabong, RVCA, Roxy. As a trusted advisor to executive leadership and boards, she has led enterprise-wide legal strategy for organizations ranging from high-growth brands through multibillion-dollar global companies. Maryn counsels clients on a broad range of legal and business matters, including commercial transactions, employment and human resources issues, intellectual property strategy, licensing and collaborations, influencer and marketing agreements, mergers and acquisitions, global real estate and leasing portfolios, and high-stakes litigation management.

Prior to joining OGC, Maryn served as Global General Counsel of Boardriders, Inc., a leading action sports and lifestyle company behind iconic brands including Quiksilver and Billabong. As a member of the senior leadership team, Maryn advised across the company's core business functions and played a central role during a period of significant growth and transformation. Maryn led the integration of acquired brands, oversaw the restructuring of domestic and international legal functions, and ultimately guided the company through its successful sale to Authentic Brands Group.

Before joining Boardriders, Maryn was General Counsel of Lucky Brand Jeans, where she oversaw enterprise legal operations in a fast-paced, highly competitive retail environment. She advised the Board of Directors and executive leadership and played a critical role in guiding the company through the operational and global supply chain challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic. She also oversaw a high-stakes litigation matter that resulted in a victory before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Maryn began her in-house career at BCBG Max Azria, where she helped scale the business from under $100 million in annual revenue to more than $2 billion, supporting the company's global expansion through retail growth, channel development, and extensive category and territory licensing partnerships. Following her tenure at BCBG Max Azria, Maryn founded a fractional legal services practice, advising companies across a range of industries and growth stages—experience that sharpened her ability to quickly assess risk, prioritize business needs, and deliver practical, results-oriented counsel.

She started her legal career in private practice at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, after earning her J.D. from University of California, Berkeley, School of Law.

Maryn is known for building trust relationships as a true strategic partner to leadership teams. She brings a deep understanding of organizational strategy, culture, and risk tolerance, translating that insight into clear, actionable guidance that supports sound decision-making and operational efficiency. She approaches every engagement with integrity, strong judgment, and a collaborative mindset.

Maryn has served on the boards of several non-profit organizations and provides pro bono legal advice to education- and environmental-focused non-profits. Maryn splits her time between Southern California and Lake Wylie, South Carolina. Outside of work, she is an avid reader, a competitive pickleball player, and enjoys wake surfing. She is the proud mother of four and the owner of three dogs, all of whom keep her busy and joyful.
